Dear Kirstenbosch Branch member

Welcome to the 100 year celebration issue of the Kirstenbosch Branch’s newsletter!

BotSoc’s official birthday is 10 June, 100 years since the Society was formed to support the establishment of a Botanical Garden in Cape Town.

Kirstenbosch is celebrating its milestone 100th birthday on Monday 1 July with free entry to the Garden for the day.

To mark the occasion Prof Brian Huntley will be signing copies of his magnificent book, Kirstenbosch: the most beautiful garden in Africa in the Botanical Society Bookshop in the Visitors’ Centre at Gate 1, from 11h00 to 13h00 on 1 July.

If you have not yet participated in any of the Centenary activities, why not join our Garden Guides on one of the many free historical and themed walks on offer in Kirstenbosch. Details can be found on pages 11 and 12.

Stop and view the 40 metre retrospective banner, Kirstenbosch ... in bygone days, developed by designer, David Davidson and featuring the history of Kirstenbosch from archival photographic material and scenes from the Garden’s beginnings, on display below the Main Lawn.

Notice of a Special General Meeting of the Botanical Society of South Africa on 13 June 2013 at 15h30 in the Colophon Room, CBC Building, Kirstenbosch.

This notice is given in terms of the Constitution to effect amendments to the Constitution.

The Kirstenbosch Branch calls on its members to attend. For information contact 021 797-2090.
Kirstenbosch Branch News

The Kirstenbosch Branch of the Botanical Society is active in its role of supporting Kirstenbosch Botanical Garden. This year we have assisted in the following ways:

- The Branch funded the installation of a new PA and projector system in the Sanlam Hall where the Wednesday Talks and other lectures are hosted.
- The Gold Fields Education Centre Career Day took place on 15 March, targeting senior high school learners from underprivileged backgrounds. 150 learners were bussed to Kirstenbosch and taken on a behind-the-scenes tour of the Estate, showcasing the various career opportunities in biodiversity conservation research and horticulture. The Branch donated R2000 to cover some of the fuel and transport costs. A number of our volunteers assisted on the day.
- The Branch Committee has approved a further R60 000 in funding for The Gold Fields’ Biodiversity Education Programme.
- Kirstenbosch Branch sponsored the supply of plants for a school holiday cultural programme in Lavender Hill organised by the Khoikhoi Customary Council for learners in Grades 5 to 7 in March and April.
- The Branch to date has contributed R5000 towards the bespoke signage system used in the Garden and hopes to continue to support this important aspect of the Garden.
- Kirstenbosch Branch participated in the 100 Years of Biodiversity Science Showcase on 22 May at Kirstenbosch.

Kirstenbosch Branch welcomes new staff members

Chanel Benjamin joined our permanent staff in the Bookshop situated at Gate 2, after working as a casual staff member and a volunteer at our Garden Fair for three years.

Claire Sadie joined our team on contract from February to October, as Centenary Co-ordinator, assisting with all aspects of the many Centenary events and celebrations in 2013.

The MAY entries will be on display outside the Information Desk at Gate 1 from next week.
On Saturday 2 March 2013, whilst leading the Centenary Walk through Kirstenbosch Garden, I was approached by a lady who had carried a backpack containing Brian Huntley’s Kirstenbosch book. The lady, whose name was Ann, showed me a picture taken in 1959 in which she was seated next to Muriel Johns at her farewell walk in Kirstenbosch, 54 years ago. She confided that she was the little girl in the picture to Muriel John’s left, the one with the blond hair. The group were thrilled to share her story when suddenly a lady in the group exclaimed “But I am the dark haired girl who was sitting next to you!” Her name was Felicity. They were on the same outing in 1959 and were from different schools so had not met before.

It was a very emotional moment and both ladies said they owed their love of the Garden to the time they had spent with Muriel Johns.

Farewell to Tessa and Nic

Tessa and Nic van Rooyen retired this month as convenors of the Kirstenbosch Craft Market, a role they have performed for the last 21 years since the inception of the Craft Market in 1992.

Kirstenbosch Branch thanks them for all their hard work over the years that has made the Craft Market the successful event that it has become on the Cape Town calendar. See page 6.

Membership Issues

We have received a number of complaints recently from members regarding the sign-in system at the entrances to Kirstenbosch.

Members of the Botanical Society are afforded free entry to Kirstenbosch Botanical Garden by the Curator of the Garden. This is not a right but a privilege, one which has been abused by a minority of BotSoc members who have allowed friends and family to borrow their BotSoc membership cards to gain free entry into Kirstenbosch.

Kirstenbosch relies on revenue from the gates to cover operational costs and gate revenue loss through membership card fraud has resulted in the Curator introducing the sign-in system.

Until an alternative to the current system is implemented, we ask members to remember that membership cards are not transferable, and that BotSoc members are required to join the queue at the gates and sign the register upon entry to the Garden.

We are delighted to announce that Botanical Society membership subscriptions and renewals can now be paid by credit card at both Botanical Society Bookshops in Kirstenbosch.

Vital services are provided throughout the Kirstenbosch Estate by BotSoc Volunteers who contribute their time to a range of activities from leading walks to assisting horticultural staff in the gardens and nurseries. The year round activities of all Volunteer groups in the nurseries at Kirstenbosch peak in April with the Kirstenbosch Garden Fair. This annual event is a major fund-raising undertaking in support of Kirstenbosch Garden and promotes the use of indigenous flora in gardens.

Volunteers from all groups are involved in the planning and running of the Garden Fair and a representative from each group sits on the Garden Fair Committee. A smaller Admin group is responsible for the overall organisation of the event, working tirelessly behind the scenes. Their work begins in July each year, analysing the sales from the previous plant sale, contacting growers and placing orders for the next year’s plants, finalising prices and plant information for the catalogue to be printed, all whilst working closely with horticultural staff at Kirstenbosch.

The larger group of Volunteers descends en masse on the Stone Cottage grounds the week before the plant sale to peg out the grounds, receive plant deliveries, label plants and transform the grounds into a spectacular Garden Fair!

The theme of this year’s Garden Fair was Centenarians and Champions, in celebration of 100 years of Kirstenbosch and BotSoc. We would like to say a very big THANK YOU to all our Volunteers who helped to make the Garden Fair a roaring success!
Centenary GOLD at Chelsea

Congratulations to Kirstenbosch Botanical Garden and SANBI on being awarded a gold medal at the Chelsea Flower Show in London!

This is the 33rd gold medal they have been awarded in 38 years of exhibiting at the flower show. This year, it is fitting that the theme of the exhibit is 100 Blooming Years as both Kirstenbosch and the RHS Chelsea Flower Show celebrate their centenaries in 2013. This is the 20th year that designers David Davidson and Raymond Hudson have created an innovative, award winning exhibit.

The exhibit was an enclosed reconstruction of Kirstenbosch’s central garden and Dell. The circular display featured the Dell and Cycad Amphitheatre on one side and the Protea Garden and mountain skyline on the other.

The display will be recreated at the V&A Waterfront from 31 August to 24 September.

Fynbos Forum 2013

Celebrating Fynbos in a Centenary Year

This year’s Fynbos Forum is joining in celebrating BotSoc’s and Kirstenbosch’s Centenary year by holding its annual meeting at Kirstenbosch from 7 to 10 October 2013 info@fynbosforum.org.za.

The Fynbos Forum would like to recognize the contribution of Kirstenbosch National Botanical Garden and the Botanical Society to the long history of flora conservation in the Western Cape and South Africa. Delegates will receive a 30% discount on Wild Flower Guides and GROW series books in the Botanical Society Bookshop during the Forum.

In Memoriam: Koos Roux

The Kirstenbosch Branch of the Botanical Society was shocked to hear of the tragic death of Dr Koos Roux, Curator of the Compton Herbarium at Kirstenbosch.

Dr Roux was a national cycling champion, having won a gold in his age group at the South African National Track Championships in 2011. He was killed in a hit-and-run cycling accident on 12 May.

The Branch extends condolences to family, friends and colleagues of Koos.

I’m lying in the recovery room of the theatre of the Kingsbury Hospital, having just woken from the anaesthetic after a minor procedure. A nursing sister comes up to my bed, peers down at me and says: “Aren’t you Tessa from the Kirstenbosch craft market?” “Yes”, I mumble in post-operative haze, “who are you?” “Oh, I sometimes help Crafter X at the market”, says she. That’s when I realized that it was just as well that Nic and I had decided to retire after convening the market for 21 years!

When the job of running the market became mine in 1992, it was part of my duties as branch secretary of the Kirstenbosch Branch of BotSoc. I had never done anything of the sort before, so it really was a learning experience. Dealing with all sorts of artistic people taught me lots about myself, and about human nature—the good and the bad.

To convene a market you have to be part leader, part psychologist, part quality controller, part soother of ruffled feathers, and above all, you have to keep calm when all about you are anything but. For example, even the slightest rumour of rain on a market day can turn the most sensible, down to earth crafter into the equivalent of a neurotic five year old—if I could count how many crafters have emailed me “Is it going to rain, is it?” the day before a market, as if I have a special insight and a hotline into what the weather will be like the following day...

And none of this would have been possible without the wonderful, down to earth, sensible support of my better half Nic van Rooyen who from the very first has been a veritable pillar of strength. We once had the misfortune of having two very badly built outside toilets that were used for men’s toilets at the market. They invariably went out of order, and poor Nic had the ghastly job of having to be Mr Plumber more times than I could count. I won’t go into detail or you might not want to eat your dinner tonight.

He also has the role of market ‘heavy’. There was the time when a man drove into the market grounds with great insouciance, set up his stall, sat on his camper chair and was ready to trade. Only problem was that we had no idea who he was—he hadn’t been invited to attend the market. He was most indignant when Nic politely asked him to vacate the premises, but he did so—you don’t mess with that van Rooyen glare!

For quite a few years a four-legged friend/pest—a black labrador called BooBoo, whose owners did not mind that he roamed the streets of Bishopscourt—would visit the market drawn no doubt by the smell of food from the food stalls, and the confidence that soft-hearted punters would feed him scraps. Only problem was he had a distinctly vocal aversion to the ponies and a tendency to pull dirt bins over in search of a morsel or two. His apologetic owner would huff and puff when we phoned requesting his collection, but would sheepishly arrive and haul him off. Many, many times...!

Over the years competent helpers like Angie Bosman, Cathy Abbott, Eric Marthinus, Elizabeth Mcanywa and Leon and Simone van Rooyen have contributed to the successful staging of many craft markets. A big virtual bouquet to them as well as to the Kirstenbosch Branch of BotSoc office staff.

It says a lot when a market can boast of running for 21 years—10 markets per season = at least 210 markets. The first Kirstenbosch craft market took place at the Stone Cottage grounds on 30 August 1992 with about 60 crafters—now there are about 180 crafters per market. The Kirstenbosch Branch committee compiled a list of very sensible rules for crafters when the market began, and these rules have stood us in good stead all these years. I am happy that Nic and I have in a small way assisted local people to earn some money, and that quite a few Kirstenbosch crafters have gone on to become suppliers to huge retail chain stores. We wish the new conveners every success—may the market go from strength to strength.

Sisanda FunDaytion

“There can be no keener revelation of a society’s soul than the way in which it treats its children”
Nelson Mandela

Sisanda FunDaytion is a non-profit organisation working with volunteers to influence change in South Africa for disadvantaged children through recreation and FUN!

Our vision is ‘A world in which all children can experience the joy of being children’.

Working throughout Cape Town’s disadvantaged communities with children’s homes, community organisations and convalescent hospitals, Sisanda FunDaytion provides vulnerable children with opportunities, through recreation, to learn, laugh, be inspired and connect with others in situations that are ordinarily inaccessible to them. In addition, we aim to offer adults and youth from diverse backgrounds fun and accessible volunteer experiences which encourage active citizenship.

Our values: Fun, recreation and play, opportunities to inspire, togetherness, social interaction, shared learning and active citizenship.

Our Fun Day programme involves outings in exciting environments, especially nature, where children can get to know Cape Town and its people.

Our Circle programme supports longer lasting activities such as reading circles, dance classes, hiking clubs, etc which inspire the children and connect them with new role-models.

If you would like to support or learn more about Sisanda FunDaytion please visit our website www.sisanda.org.za, check us out on facebook Sisanda FunDaytions Friends or follow us on twitter @SisandaFunDay.

To volunteer please sign-up via our website to receive our future invitations or email info@sisanda.org.za. We’d love you to join us so you can see what a difference you can make!

Any donation is greatly appreciated so if you have skills, time, money or goods that you would like to donate please contact us via email.
